Joseph Stivaletti - Project Designer Rejoins Yerkes Team

We are pleased to announce the addition of Joseph (Joe) Stivaletti to our Survey and Engineering Teams. A Temple University Graduate, with Associate Degrees in; (1) Building Construction Technology, and (2) Land Survey Technology), Joe fits well into our cross-functional team concept.

Previously, Joe worked in the Yerkes Rosemont office for nearly (20) years as the Lead Surveyor under Bill Wermuth. Qualified to perform field surveys or prepare survey plans, Joe will be responsible for preparing “base” survey plans of subject properties, including boundary, topographic, as-built, and ALTA/NSPS Land Title Surveys, as well as assisting the engineering department with completing land development, permit, landscape plans etc.

Joe also researches local zoning and building regulations while assisting clients in defining objectives of their project. Joe has worked on projects including residential and commercial, as well as various construction phases of building and roadways as a Land Survey Technician. He has performed various mathematical calculations necessary to obtain property boundaries as well as impervious and steep slope areas. Notable Projects include: The Hilton Hotel/Marquis Apartments, Upper Merion Township; Colonial Electric Supply, Upper Merion Township; Appaloosa Development, Lower Merion Township; and the Waverly Heights, Lower Merion Township

He enjoys riding his motorcycle, watching sports (NHL especially the Philadelphia Flyers), and on weekend getaways - exercising and occasionally signing up for 5K runs for charities/causes.

We are excited as Joe represents the addition of another highly talented professional, as Yerkes continues to grow, keeping pace with the increasing demands of our clients.

Please join me in welcoming Joe to Yerkes Team.
